

Paola Epifani , alias Rabarama , was born in Rome in 1969.

The daughter of an artist , from her early childhood she showed an inborn talent for sculpture . She started her artistic education at the Arts School in Treviso and continued later at the Venice Academy of Fine Arts . She graduated with top marks in 1991 and immediately started taking part in a large number of national and international sculpture competitions , earning growing acclaim with both the critics and the general public alike .

Rabarama is considered an all- round artist by her critics and most demanding collectors , thanks to the steady flow of official recognition and awards she has received on the national and international art scene .

The year 2010 witnessed the realisation of the ambitious exhibition project named UBIQUA 2010: Cannes , Orta San Giulio (Novara) and London were the selected cities where our great artist showed her works .

Prestige , fascination and investment are the characteristics which have identified this ambitious exhibition venture .

Since 2013 , her work is to admire , in exclusivity for Belgium and Luxembourg , at the CAFMEYER GALLERY in Knokke - Zoute
